Subject: Feedback of the .au registration process

Hi to whom this may concern, databases!

I have virtually said in the feedback that I provided in the survey link that you sent Me was give other people a chance to buy the domain names they would like to if these other people already have their own 2 letter domain names, instead of the people who already own them buying more for their own selfish benefits!

In other words please don't be selfish and purchase more domain names for you to make money on, if someone is absolutely desperate for a particular domain name but be selfless & respectful in someone else having a go in their purchase of their so desired domain name for themselves so they can own a piece of history also!

People can buy domain names but then it's a money game & selfishness comes in and plays the part of the poor person who simply can't afford to buy one themselves!

So if you could make the rules fair for everyone in buying a .au domain name, that that would be really great in the very long term future for all whom live In the community who wish to own their very own domain name just like I would like to do myself!

Thanks

Kerryn
